

WORKED EXAMPLE: Building The Vacancy

A real-world walkthrough using the Universal Refinement Template inside Drake Enterprise.

1. OBJECT

What is the thing?

The thing is: A 105mm aluminum breath-coaching device that helps people quit smoking wi

Who is it for?

For: People who have tried patches, gum, vapes, and cold turkey – and failed.

What does it do?

It: Replaces the ritual of smoking with a physical device that provides haptic feedback

2. STATE

What exists right now?

- Assets available:
 - [x] OpenSCAD parametric CAD files
 - [x] KiCad 6 PCB design with real Digi-Key BOM ($43 landed cost)
 - [x] Zephyr RTOS firmware with dual neural nets (587 parameters)
 - [x] Gumroad store already live
- [x] Cloudflare tunnel for product page
- Constraints:
 - [x] No injection molding partner yet

- [x] FDA classification unclear
 - [x] Limited capital for first production run
 - Time available:
 - [x] 2-3 hours per day (Jay has ADHD and chronic pain)

3. FRICTION

What blocks motion?

The block is: Jay keeps refining the CAD instead of shipping the pre-order page.

Is the block real or imagined?

- [x] Imagined (fear, ambiguity, perfectionism)

What is the smallest version of this block?

The smallest block is: Jay thinks the device needs one more feature before it's "ready."

4. MOTION

What is the next executable action?

Next action: Publish the pre-order landing page with existing photos and copy.

How long will this take?

Timebox: 45 minutes

What does "done" look like?

Done = A live URL with email capture, Gumroad link, and "Ships June 2026" call-to-action

5. REFINEMENT

What changed after execution?

What happened: The page went live. 3 people signed up for the waitlist in 24 hours. Jay

What worked?

Worked: Timeboxing the action to 45 minutes prevented scope creep. Using the template f

What didn't?

Didn't: Jay spent 20 minutes tweaking the CSS gradient. Next time, set a hard stop at 4

What changes the next OBJECT?

Next OBJECT: Create a Gumroad product listing for The Vacancy with instant download of
